Subject objectives	The aim of the lecture is to deepen and supplement knowledge in the fields of financial law, civil law, and commercial law, including the theory and practice of obtaining funds from external sources to finance business operations. In addition to theoretical topics, the lecture will also present practical aspects related to the interpretation and subsumption of financial law norms, drawing on the body of legal doctrine and case law. The primary objective of the lecture is to impart the necessary knowledge and create conditions for group work using source materials. The direct result should be an understanding of the basic sources of capital for business operations, and the indirect result should be the acquisition of practical skills related to the interpretation of financial law provisions.
