Subject objectives	To familiarise students/students with the theoretical and practical aspects of working in the profession of a regulated sworn interpreter in Poland. To make students aware of the necessity to continuously improve their linguistic and translation skills, as well as to develop soft and social competences indispensable in interpreting. To develop the ability to search, select and analyse information needed for interpreting. To raise awareness of the importance of ethics and the role of responsibility in the profession of a sworn interpreter.

Learning outcomes	Course outcome	Subject outcome	Method of verification
		The student: 1. Has knowledge of the legal status, obtaining professional qualifications, requirements for candidates for translators in terms of education, knowledge and skills, as well as the organisational specificity and practical aspects of the work of sworn translators in Poland. 2. He/she is familiar with the basic ethical principles applicable to sworn translators in Poland and is aware of the legal and professional liability of translators for non-compliance with their duties and breaches of professional rules. 3. He/she is able to acquire knowledge on the issues covered in the lecture on his/her own, being aware of the fact that acquiring knowledge and gaining translation experience is conditioned by the specific nature of the profession of a sworn translator, who by virtue of the law is obliged to constantly improve his/her professional qualifications. 4. He/she is aware of the fact that a sworn translator who, by virtue of the law, produces certified translations of documents and certified interpreting is obliged to observe standards of professional ethics and to carry out the tasks entrusted to him with particular care and impartiality in accordance with the rules laid down by law. 5. He/she is ready to meet the challenges facing the sworn translator as a person of public trust; recognises and correctly identifies problems related to the provision of certified translation in Poland and seeks the best solutions in this respect.
