Subject objectives

The aim of this course is to familiarize students with the fundamentals of Korean history—from ancient times to the present—and to enable them to relate this knowledge to a broader understanding of the East Asian region. Designed as an introductory course focusing on selected issues from various historical periods, it is intended for students specializing in East Asian studies, particularly those with a focus on China or Japan. Consequently, the topics covered will be examined in relation to the history of China, Japan, and the region as a whole.
