Subject objectives	The purpose of the professional internship within the Eastern Studies degree programme is to prepare students to apply the knowledge and skills acquired during their studies in a professional environment, with particular emphasis on tasks related to Eastern Europe and Asia. The internship enables students to become familiar with the structures, organisational principles, and operating procedures of institutions or companies, while developing their analytical, organisational, communication, and teamwork skills. It also fosters independence, reliability, and responsibility for assigned tasks, supporting students in their preparation for entering the labour market.
